Biography

Ashton Bird (they, them | USA, b. 1990) is an installation artist and architectural designer residing in Boston Massachusetts, USA. He recently completed a 1-year contract as the John M. Bird was raised on a farm in southeast South Dakota, received his BFA from Minnesota State University-Mankato, apprenticed at Dakota Pottery in South Dakota, studied at Korea University in South Korea while briefly apprenticing at local Itaewon ceramic shop, and received his MFA from Florida State University. He also completed a year at the Academy of Arts, Architecture and Design in Prague, ending early due to U.S. visa complications during the Trump administration. From 2015 to 2020, Ashton founded the 501c3 project space SOUP experimental where he curated 50+ on-site exhibitions, 24 video and written interviews, 3 public art crawls and several large-scale national collaborations between universities and private entities. Bird exhibits at traditional institutes, DIY projects, public art events and online venues. Notable locations include: Xiao Zhang Residence San Francisco, Klauzál6 Projekt Galéria, Loft Bubny Holešovice, Villa P651, MINT Atlanta, Atlanta Contemporary, Atlanta Fringe Festival, Day & Night Projects Atlanta, Wiregrass Museum of Art, Delaware Contemporary, Psychic Jacuzzi, The Washington Pavilion of South Dakota, 410 Gallery Mankato, Metropolitan Gallery 250 Philadelphia, Manifest Creative Research Gallery & Drawing Center Cincinnati, and Cat Family Records Tallahassee. Additionally, Ashton worked as an architectural lighting designer at The Johnson Studio at Cooper Carry, contributing to numerous restaurant and hospitality projects across the United States. Notable projects include Rumi's Kitchen at Colony Square (Atlanta), Spaceman at the Hyatt Buckhead, and Casa Don Alfonso at the Ritz-Carlton, St. Louis. Currently, his passion for art, hospitality, and restaurant design has led him to train as a foodservice designer under Ed Doyle at RealFood Boston, where he is involved in several projects such as the Boston Harbor Hotel, XOXO Sushi, and Sally's Apizza.
